Gail's Quilting Journey & Love of Scrap Quilts

Gail is a prolific quilter and an active member of the Boundary Bay Quilt Guild in Ladner, B.C. She is involved in providing mystery quilts to guild members and sometimes features them on her blog. She is an Island Batik Ambassador. Using scraps would be her favourite approach making quilts. She used to be known for dumpster diving and searching garbage cans at guild sewing days seeking out usable scraps. Many of the scraps turn into quilts that are donated to various charities. Gail's quilts and patterns have been published in Fons and Porter's "Love of Quilting" and McCall's Quilting. Her trunk show will feature many of her favourite scrap quilts as well as her journey as a quilter.
